Milstein East, Harvard Law School

Opening Remarks
Professor Gerald Neuman

Keynote Speaker
Judge Yuji Iwasawa,
International Court of Justice

*Followed by an Evening Reception,
Open to All*

H.E. JUDGE YUJI IWASAWA

H.E. Judge Yuji IWASAWA has been a Judge of the International Court of Justice since June 2018.

Judge Iwasawa is an alumnus of Harvard Law School. He studied here 45 years ago (1977-1978) to obtain an LL.M. He holds an S.J.D. from the University of Virginia and an LL.B. from the University of Tokyo.

Judge Iwasawa is currently also a Vice-Chair of the London-based International Law Association and a member of the Institut de droit international.

Prior to his election, he was a professor of international law at the University of Tokyo Faculty of Law. He served on the Human Rights Committee under the ICCPR for nearly 12 years. He was elected as its Chairperson twice (2009-2011, 2017-2018). He was also formerly President of the Japanese Society of International Law, Judge of the Asian Development Bank Administrative Tribunal, and a member of the U.N. Permanent Forum on Indigenous Issues.

He was also a Visiting Fellow at the Lauterpacht Centre for International Law at the University of Cambridge three times (1991-1993, 1997, 2000-2001), a Visiting Fellow at the University of Paris (2015-2016), and a Visiting Professor at Columbia Law School (2014). He has also lectured at The Hague Academy of International Law (2002).

His books include: "International Law", a standard textbook on international law in Japanese, published in 2020; "Domestic Application of International Law" published by Nijhoff last year; "International Law, Human Rights, and Japanese Law" published by Oxford University Press in 1998; and "WTO Dispute Settlement" published in 1995. The last book was the first of its kind in the world but it is not so well-known because it was published in Japanese.
